

TO THE PEOPLE OF PORTSMOUTH--YOUR ATTENTION

Grand Republican Rally This Evening at Freeman's Hall--The Reasons Why Portsmouth Should Maintain It's Republican Majority To Be Told By Leading Business and Professional Men.

President Taft

THE GREAT AMBASSADOR OF PEACE.

The Contribution of America to the Christian Era.

Will you, dare you, crucify him?

Should you participate in this crime or assist in its accomplishment, your hours of reflection and sober thought will be filled with gloom.

"Peace on earth, and good will toward men."

An exemplification by President Taft in the twentieth century of the doctrine proclaimed by the Nazarene in the first century.

The arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France paved the way for universal peace.

Think of the suffering and expense of war, its horrors, its destruction and its waste.

It costs the United States $400,000,000 annually to pay for past wars and to prepare for future wars, or nearly half of the total revenue of the country.

It is a growing burden upon the tax payers.

What a vast sum to be devoted to the development of the country, improving its rivers and harbors for commerce, irrigating its arid lands, draining its waste places, erecting public buildings, caring for the health of the people, protecting those engaged in hazardous callings, and promoting the welfare of our citizens.

Yet Theodore Roosevelt's influence defeated this great movement for universal peace when the arbitration treaties were before the United States Senate.

These treaties were a practical uplift for humanity. They were in answer to the fervent appeals of the pulpit of the land. Every clergyman who individually or through societies has preached the doctrine of "peace on earth and good will towards men," is in duty bound to uphold the hands of President Taft, who has inspired by his action the co-operation of the civilized nations of Europe to an effort to end the barbarity of war.

If President Taft should be re-elected these arbitration treaties will be ratified and a new era will dawn for humanity.

In the strife and turmoil over the transient issues of present day politics, this great movement for the conservation of the happiness of mankind has been obscured.

Yet future ages will rise up to call President Taft blessed for his part in this magnificent effort to remove the sufferings of war.

How much nobler it will be for the present generation to forward President Taft's work than for some future generation to erect monuments to his memory.

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE,
Jessie M. Barton, Chairman.

VICTORY ASSURED

Taft will carry New Hampshire.

Worcester will be elected by the people.

Churchill vote will be insignificant.

Sulloway and Currier will be our next Congressmen.

The Legislature will have a straight Republican majority in both branches.

Democrats are disgusted over the trade their leaders have made with Bass and Churchill.

They prefer a real Republican like Franklin Worcester to a mongrel Democrat like Samuel D. Felker.

Raymond B. Stevens has been openly repudiated by the Democrats of the Second Congressional District.

Reports from over the State are that Republicans will vote for every candidate in the Republican column.

Let every Republican do his duty election day and help swell the victory.

JESSE M. BARTON,
Chairman Republican State Committee.

Rally This Evening

There will be a grand Republican rally at Freeman's hall this evening, which will end a great whirlwind tour of this county, and it will be the last word before election.

In addition to the speakers who are making the tour there will be short talks by men prominent in the business and professional life of this city, and they will tell briefly why they are for President Taft and why in their opinion this city should be an administration city.

The rally will be held at 8 o'clock and there will be music by the Portsmouth City band, and something of great interest to every voter no matter what his politics are.

Col. John H. Bartlett will preside and the speakers will include Hon. Sherman T. Burroughs, one of the most convincing speakers in the state, and a real progressive; Hon. F. W. Hackett, formerly assistant secretary of the navy; Hon. G. T. Whitford.

The local speakers will be Col. John Pender, Mr. John K. Bates, president of the First National Bank; Judge Thomas H. Simes, Ex-Mayor E. H. Adams, Hon. F. S. Towle, Mr. John W. Kelley, Esq., Mr. C. W. Gray, superintendent of the Consolidation Coal Company, Mr. F. W. Hartford, Mr. Harry E. Boynton, Mr. E. P. Stoddard and Capt. J. N. Jones.

What the Democrats Would Like to Know Is:

How much interest have you taken in the Democratic nominee prior to your affiliation with the progressives, Bass, Demick and the rest of that clique?

Why you had to be forced to lend your presence at the Democratic rally in Rochester in 1910, when Mr. Carr spoke there, and why you advised a Republican to vote for Bass instead of Carr, when he asked you which of the two was the best for a Christian to vote for.

Why you opposed Mike White, Democratic candidate for congressman in the first district, in 1908? You made no bones of telling it them, tell it now in the press, so that Billy Ahern and Jim Brennan will know.

Why did you oppose Tim Howard of Manchester, when he was a candidate for Congress?

Why did you oppose Napoleon J. Dyer of Laconia, when he was a candidate for Congress?

Why did you oppose Eugene C. Foss of Rochester, when he was a candidate for senator in the twelfth district?

These men were all Democrats and have asked these questions often in the past, and so have their friends. Some know, others do not.

WHAT THE VOTERS WOULD LIKE TO KNOW

Why you don't use the union label on your political printing and in your newspaper office?

Why you, as Mayor of Rochester in 1906, allowed your friend, a councilman from Ward Three in Rochester, to introduce and have passed in the City Council, over which you presided, a resolution cutting down the price of labor for horses from fifteen cents per hour to ten cents per hour, and men from 20 cents per hour to fifteen cents per hour, while working for the city? It was said then, and is said now in Rochester, that it was done in the interest of yourself and your friend, the councilman, and for the purpose of forcing others to accept that price for hauling your lumber.

Why you continue to hire men to work in your lumber yard for one dollar and fifty cents per day, when others are paying one dollar and seventy-five and two dollars per day for the same kind of labor?

Why is your labor record in Strafford County not boasted of by yourself and friends?

Why are you trying to explain to the liquor dealers your reasons for favoring the Preston Amendment and supporting it? And why do you find it necessary to explain?

JESSE M. BARTON,
Chairman of Republican State Committee.

EVERYBODY COME AND HEAR THE SPEAKERS!

Attention!

The Republican party is the only Lincoln party which Abraham ever knew or recognized. It is the party which saved the nation from disintegration in 1861, and preserved the Stars and Stripes as our national emblem, and which has always protected the weak and defenseless. It has never failed to champion the cause of human rights, and to raise them above the passionate demands of the fortune hunter. Its program for the future shows its vitality and its appreciation of the governmental agency. The attempt of the Democratic party to change our protective system to one of free trade is an attack of colossal proportions upon the bread-winners of America. The attempt of the so-called Progressive party to secure a place in control by capitalizing the ills and misfortunes of mankind, which must always exist, while its leader with a bandanna in his hands seeks to beguile the poor man with promises of enviable bounties he knows he cannot give, is an insult to the intellect of the thinking man and a sin in the sight of God. Prosperity is nation-wide. Why change, why take a chance, a leap in the dark? Beware of that party which extends glittering inducements to capture votes, but which has never made good when given an opportunity. A mistake at this time may destroy not only your own prosperity, but the opportunities for your children which have been vouchsafed to you.

JESSE M. BARTON, Chairman Republican State Committee.

APPEALS TO THE POWERS

Turkey Admits She is Defeated and Asks Powers to Intervene to Prevent Utter Destruction

Constantinople, Nov. 3, 10.45 p.m.—The Porte has applied to the powers for mediation with a view to the cessation of hostilities and for the negotiation of peace.

Application has been made to the embassies here and circular to the European capitals.

The Turkish army is retreating to the last line of fortifications outside the capital.

This was announced in the first bulletin admitting defeat in the great battle which the government issued tonight.

The official bulletin follows:

"The fortunes of war are variable and it is not always possible to be successful on all sides. A people which accept war must submit with resignation to all its consequences. To overlook this obligation is to fail in the duty. Consequently while it would be unwise to be unnecessarily proud over victories, it likewise would be incorrect to be alarmed at want of success.

"For instance in the present war with the four federal states, the imperial troops are defending themselves with success, in the environs of Senari and Janina, but the east and Lule Burgas, felt obliged to return army in the neighborhood of Vlasica to the lines of defense at Tchakula.

"In order to facilitate a successful defense it has naturally been decided to exert all interests to safeguard the interests of the fatherland."

The fighting on Saturday south of Lule Burgas was of the most murderous character. The Turks offered a splendid resistance but were finally overwhelmed by the Bulgarian military fire. This was terrific and compelled the Turks to withdraw to the last lines at Tchakula. There the Turkish troops intend to make a supreme effort to save the capital.

Reports place the Turkish loss at more than 20,000 killed or wounded.

Coach Stagg of Chicago Discovered New Back Field Wonder in Fitzpatrick

FITZPATRICK

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Coach Alonzo Stagg of the Chicago university football team eleven has his team in fine fettle for the big games on the schedule. The maroons' adviser was dissatisfied with the showing the team made against Purdue recently and owing the state treasury.

Governor Bass and his council had a lively session last week at which charges against the Manchester police commission and Chief Healey of that city, relating that these officials had been guilty of various offenses in their city, were discussed. The particular instance under consideration being the failure of the L. W. W. to get a hearing in Manchester during the Lawrence strike. No action was taken by the governor and council, who will review the stenographic record of the testimony before handing down any decision in the matter but from Governor Bass's attitude during the hearing it was evident that he will have something sharp to say later. It is believed that a majority of the council may differ with him on this as on many other matters that have come up during his administration.

Council Rich and Kelley of the Boston & Maine railroad had a busy time last week, Mr. Rich appearing for the road before Interstate Commerce Commission of Boston, while Mr. Kelley successfully defended the road in the United States court at Portsmouth against a charge of violating the hours of labor law. The fact was brought out at the Boston hearing that the present management is far from satisfied with the condition of the Boston & Maine, so far, indeed, from being satisfied that it estimates no less than $50,000,000 are needed to put the entire system in proper shape for the expeditious and economical transaction of business.

Considering the somewhat dubious situation as to rates, taxes, competition, etc., this little sum of fifty million dollars might seem possibly hard to get, but the railroad managers are going right ahead with preparations to spend it and one of the places where some of it will go is thought to be the freight yard in this city which needs to be enlarged.

At the local railroad shops orders have been received to hire two hundred additional carpenters and machinists as soon as they can be found, which will bring the total number of employees up to 1,200. The new electric lighting equipment for the shops has arrived from the works of the General Electric Company at Schenectady, N. Y., and as soon as it is installed the work of the freight car department, at least, will be put upon a 24-hour basis.

Two Concord boys have secured promotions in recent changes on the Boston & Maine system. Asa H. Merrill, formerly of Penacook, becoming chief engineer in charge of construction, and Frank L. Newhall, son of Captain Daniel B. Newhall, of Concord, becoming assistant trainmaster of the southern division.

Concord is to sustain a real loss in the resignation by Rev. Dr. John Vannevar of the pastorate of the White Memorial Universalist church. Doctor Vannevar has been active in very many branches of local life, serving on the board of education, being for many years captain of the National Guard, holding high office in Masonry, and leading in movements for no license.

equal suffrage, charity organization and other reforms.

UNDER ONE HEAD.

Railroad Rumors Have It that Three Stations Will Be Combined.

One of the many rumors on the Boston & Maine railroad that is attracting the attention of the employees is the report that several of the stations or the Portland division are to be put under one head. The rumor has it that the first move in that direction will be made on the eastern route of the division and that Salem, Peabody and Beverly will come under the supervision of a general agent.

The transfer of General Agent A. M. Gosselin of Dover to Salem is taken for granted that if such a change occurs he will have general supervision of the stations named.

Another rumor has it that Lynn may be included in the combination, but nothing can be learned from the railroad as to just what the transfer of the Dover agent to Salem really means.

At present the resignation of the agents at Beverly and Newburyport is in the hands of the management.

RAILROAD NOTES

The commission that has for several months been considering the demands of engine drivers on about fifty eastern railroads for increased pay, completed its report today and adjourned until the report can be verified as to figures by statisticians. Dr. Charles R. Van Hise, the chairman, says the report will be made public in about two weeks either in New York or Chicago.

George F. Berry of Old Orchard has been appointed General Agent at Dover succeeding A. M. Gosselin. Mr. Berry has been at Old Orchard over a year and was formerly at Biddeford.

OBITUARY.

Frank Brooks.

Frank Brooks, a resident of Dover for many years, died Saturday, after a short illness, aged 60 years. He was born in Portsmouth, spent the greater part of his life in Dover. He is survived by four sons, one in New York, one in Boston, one in Rochester, and the other in Dover. The funeral will be held this Monday afternoon.

WILSON HURT IN NIGHT RIDE

Democratic Candidate Receives Scalp Wound as Head Hits Car Roof.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 3.—Governor Woodrow Wilson tonight wears a narrow strip of colloid, and gauze across the top of his head covering a scalp wound three inches long, which he received early today in a motor car mishap on the way home from Red Bank, N. J. His automobile struck a mound in the road and jolted him up against a steel rib in the roof of the limousine car.

The wound is not serious and the presidential nominee will fulfill his speaking engagements in Patterson, and Passaic, N. J., tomorrow night and attend to his correspondence as usual early tomorrow.

Tonight the governor was in the parlor of his home, the center of a group of friends. There was nothing in his manner to indicate that he had met with any mishap. He said he did not feel the wound in the slightest degree and had not even developed a headache from it.

"I guess I'm too hard headed to be hurt," he said smilingly, as he received the correspondence.

Dr. J. M. Carnahan, the Governor's family physician who dressed the wound, issued the following statement about it tonight:

"When I saw Governor Wilson this afternoon I found he had received a laceration of the scalp about three inches in length. Otherwise he was in good condition and seemed to be suffering from no ill effects.

The Governor's family was kept busy answering the telephone tonight relieving the worry of friends who had heard alarming reports, they said about the accident.

PROGRESSIVES HOLD SATURDAY NIGHT RALLY

Not As Large a Crowd As Former Meetings--No Great Amount of Enthusiasm Shown.

The progressives held their last rally of the campaign in this city on Saturday evening and failed to draw as large a crowd as their rally for a week ago, in fact, it was the smallest crowd which has attended any rally this campaign. There was no great amount of enthusiasm in the audience although it was evident enough among the faithful on the stage.

Sperry Locke got a good reception, but his promise to fire some hot shots fell rather flat. An effort on the part of one of the speakers to get after Councillor Thomas Entwistle and Col. John Pender was also easily received, and the speaker, impressed with the fact that he was on the wrong track, switched over to national politics.

The rally was preceded by a short parade with less than fifty in line from the Roosevelt headquarters on Congress street to the Rockingham hotel, where the speakers were met and escorted to the hall, the procession being headed by Major David Urich and Dr. S. P. A. Pickering and the Portsmouth City band.

Sperry Locke presided and worked up quite a little enthusiasm, especially when he promised if elected to play the game of senator as he had played in the good old Sunset league. Sperry stated his position, if elected senator, he would not spend any money being elected, did not want a vote purchased, he would go to Concord and show the state what the young bloods could do. He would hustle about Concord the same as he hustles about this city and ticket, did not arrive until late. He would put in all of his time there spoke in Exeter and came down over when the Senate was in session and he would not drink rum. He would vote for everything that was for the interest of Portsmouth and would not wear the collar of any boss or bosses. He promised that if the progressives could not clean up the conditions of boss rule, that they would unite and in the next city election present a citizens' ticket which would run the city of Portsmouth as it should be run. He proclaimed himself a fighter, who had no idea of quitting if defeated at this time, but he would carry on the grand fight against boss rule until he was the last man in the ranks.

Sperry punctuated his remarks with a windup that would do credit to Joe Wood. Sperry introduced the first speaker, Mr. Clarence Clough of Lebanon, who started his speech by attacking Councillor Thomas Entwistle and Col. John Pender, the republican candidate for Senate for the 24th district, but he failed to get the response from his audience he anticipated, in fact, it was all confined to the stage. Falling on this tack he gave his reasons why he was a progressive and why they were going to carry the state. Mr. Clough only spoke for a short time as he was due to speak in Exeter and he left by automobile for that town at 8.30.

Another speaker was R. M. Pichard, who talked on both state and national topics.

Mr. Winston Churchill, the candidate for governor on the progressive ticket, did not arrive until late. He would put in all of his time there spoke in Exeter and came down over the road in an automobile. He was given a good reception and delivered a scholarly address on the state and national affairs, which he claimed warranted the election of the progressive ticket.

How To Make Hens Lay More Eggs

Poultrymen everywhere have come to know that something more than good food and proper housing is needed to make hens lay to their full capacity, just as good farmers know that something more than rainfall, sunshine and cultivation is needed to bring a piece of land into its full productivity. In addition to these, soil to do its best, must have good fertilizer. And hens in order to do their best, need Sheridan's Condition Powder. It does for them what fertilizer does for soil.

Considerably more than forty years have passed since this remarkable preparation was first introduced to chicken raisers. Today thousands of them use it regularly. Actual experience year after year has shown them how much it means to them in dollars and cents. The cost is trifling, only 3 cents a month per hen. The result is an abundance of eggs when eggs bring their highest prices. But that is not all. By keeping fowl in proper condition this wholesome tonic wards off diseases—shortens the moulting period—produces large plump birds. If your dealer can't supply you send 15 cents for a trial package, or 75 cents for a 2lb. can, carriage prepaid to I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass.—Adv.

HIGH SCHOOL AGAIN DEFEATED

The high school foot ball team went to Exeter on Saturday afternoon and were again defeated, by a score of 14 to 0. The team was somewhat weakened by the absence of three of the regular players on account of being down in their studies. They presented a weak attack and on one side of the line a weak defense, which fact was quickly noted by the Exeter team and they used it to a good advantage.

APPLICATION FOR BONDS
Postal Savings Depositors Must Give Notice By Dec. 2.

Depositors in the Postal savings system of the United States government who desire to convert their deposits into the United States bond, on January 1, must make application for this purpose on or before that date, depositors may exchange the whole or a part of their deposits for United States registered or coupon bonds—denominations of $20, $100, and $500 bearing interest from January 1 1913 at the rate of 2 1-2 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after one year from the date of issue, both principal and interest payable twenty years from that date in United States gold coin. Postal savings bonds are exempt from all taxes or duties of the United States, as well as taxation in any form by, or under state municipal, or local authority.

When one desires to convert postal deposits into bonds the postmaster at the depository office where the certificate is issued will supply an application form, which must be made out triplicate. The depositor must indorse and surrender with his application postal savings certificates, covering the amount of the bonds desired for which the postmaster will give him a receipt. The bonds will be issued by the secretary of the treasury and as soon as they are ready will be delivered to the applicants.

The conversion of deposits into bonds at a date less than one year after the certificate begins to bear interest forfeits interest on the deposits as in the case of withdrawal for any purpose.

Postal savings deposits converted into bonds are not counted as a part of the maximum of $500 allowed one depositor. The exchange is considered as taking effect on January 1, and a depositor who has applied to convert into bonds, all or part of the maximum balance of $500 may deposit an additional amount in January, though the bonds may not yet have been delivered. Postal savings bonds can be procured only by the conversion of postal savings deposits and will not be issued to persons who are not depositors. They may be sold or assigned to any person however, by the holder, and when a registered bond is assigned, a new bond will be issued in the name of the owner.

APPLICATION FOR BONDS
Postal Savings Depositors Must Give Notice By Dec. 2.

Depositors in the Postal savings system of the United States government who desire to convert their deposits into the United States bond, on January 1, must make application for this purpose on or before that date, depositors may exchange the whole or a part of their deposits for United States registered or coupon bonds—denominations of $20, $100, and $500 bearing interest from January 1 1913 at the rate of 2 1-2 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after one year from the date of issue, both principal and interest payable twenty years from that date in United States gold coin. Postal savings bonds are exempt from all taxes or duties of the United States, as well as taxation in any form by, or under state municipal, or local authority.

When one desires to convert postal deposits into bonds the postmaster at the depository office where the certificate is issued will supply an application form, which must be made out triplicate. The depositor must indorse and surrender with his application postal savings certificates, covering the amount of the bonds desired for which the postmaster will give him a receipt. The bonds will be issued by the secretary of the treasury and as soon as they are ready will be delivered to the applicants.

The conversion of deposits into bonds at a date less than one year after the certificate begins to bear interest forfeits interest on the deposits as in the case of withdrawal for any purpose.

Postal savings deposits converted into bonds are not counted as a part of the maximum of $500 allowed one depositor. The exchange is considered as taking effect on January 1, and a depositor who has applied to convert into bonds, all or part of the maximum balance of $500 may deposit an additional amount in January, though the bonds may not yet have been delivered. Postal savings bonds can be procured only by the conversion of postal savings deposits and will not be issued to persons who are not depositors. They may be sold or assigned to any person however, by the holder, and when a registered bond is assigned, a new bond will be issued in the name of the owner.

Portsmouth Should Stand by the Administration.

The employees of the navy yard know without any doubt how the Chronicle and its editor stand on matters pertaining to the Portsmouth navy yard, and this same interest has extended over a long term of years. Having this great interest in the yard, the Chronicle would like to impress upon the minds of the employees, regardless of their political belief, the great need of their being loyal to the men who have done so much for their benefit. To President Taft, the first president who ever took enough interest in the yard to pay it a visit. To Senator J. H. Gallinger, who has done so much for the yard, to Congressman Sulloway of this state and Congressman Haines of Maine, and to the prominent men of this city who have spent time and money without stint to keep a good force of workmen engaged on the yard. To all, every workman on the yard owes a debt of gratitude and there is but one way of expressing this, and that is by showing a good republican majority for this city and surrounding towns.

Portsmouth should be an administration city. We have dwelt on this subject before, and honestly think that it is for the welfare of everybody to do their part in this respect. For instance, it might be possible that President Taft will not be president of the United States after March 4, 1913, but there is one thing certain—he will be president until that date. There is a congress coming in December and the democrat or bull moose or any other candidate will not have any influence over that body, and this may mean a lot to this station. With a democrat congress, with their natural aversion to anything pertaining to the navy, it is hard to even guess what would be the fate of the yard if it did not have a friend and protector in the Senate and at the head of the Nation.

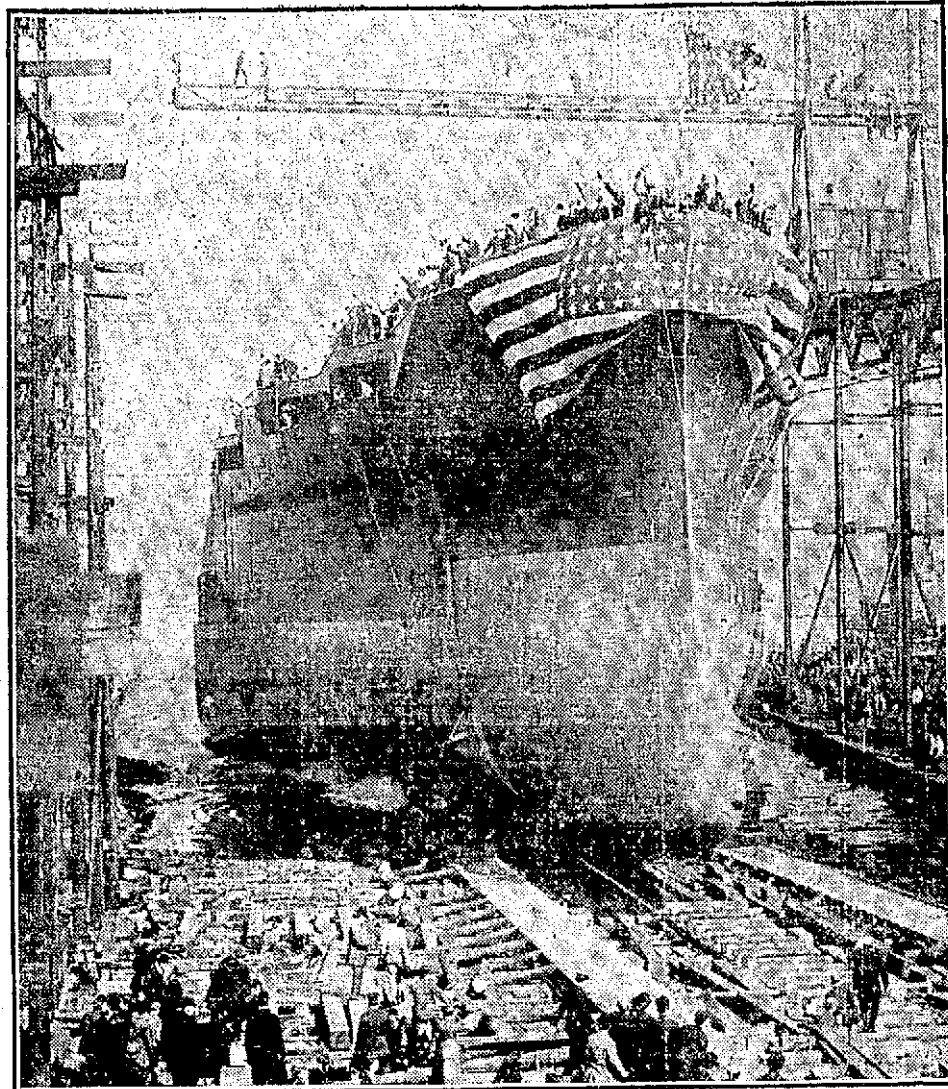

President Taft paid the workmen of this navy yard a great compliment when he visited here, and now, are these workmen going to show their ingratitude by voting anything but the republican ticket? We rather think that the workmen of the yard will give a vote of confidence to the administration on Tuesday, firm in their belief that it is for the interest of the yard and for the welfare of the country at large, that the republicans control the reins of government. And bear in mind that a vote for a Bull Moose, or third-term, is a vote for the democrats, and a small navy, with a small working force on some yards and none on others.

Think it over and then vote as your conscience dictates.

The New York Evening Post states that Rudyard Kipling recently made a set political speech in England—so far as we know, his first performance of that kind—and one naturally turns to the reading of it with lively expectation. Now we shall see what a man of undoubted genius can do to make contemporary politics seem vital. We may not agree with him, for he is known to be a tory and a tremendous imperialist, but certainly he will adorn whatever he touches. He will show us distinction of manner, uncommon precision and force of expression, with here and there gleams of rare insight and phrases that will stick in the memory. But alas for our pleasurable anticipations! Kipling the genius spoke only as the ordinary rant of his party might have done. He merely caught up the commonplace denunciations of the liberal party and its policies, and made them seem more cheap and a shade more vulgar than before. There was absolutely no intellectual lift in his speech, no evidence of thought deeper than the ordinary, no freshness of attack, no compelling vigor of presentation. It was only the hackneyed thing made more so.

The New York Evening World remarks that the high cost of living in this country is an awful burden. Thank God we have grit, philosophy and self-denial to bear it! That we are meeting it with a calm and fortitude wonderful to behold. Figures from the internal revenue bureau for the quarter ending October 1 bear eloquent and heartrending testimony. In those three months of struggle to provide ourselves with the necessities of life, we toyed with 3,800,000,000 cigarettes, 1,000,000,000 more than we got away with in the same time the year before. We smoked the record number of 1,950,000,000 cigars. In the same quarter we drank 33,150,000 gallons of whisky, an increase of 450,000 gallons over the same period last year, and we drowned the prohibition party's little $30,000 campaign contribution in 19,800,000 barrels of beer, which is 320,000 barrels up on last year's score. These facts only go to show that if any pinching and scraping must be done we know just how and where to do it. When we have to take the knife to our expense account we do the job like a stoic and grin at the pain.

Super-Dreadnought New York, Uncle Sam's New Naval Queen, Taking the Water.

Copyright, 1912, by American Press Association.

The New York, the sixth super-dreadnought for the American navy, was launched at the New York navy yard in the presence of President Taft and other notables. A crowd of 50,000 persons cheered the great mass of steel as it glided down the ways. The ship represented 10,000 tons at the time of launching. When complete and with all her stores, ammunition, fuel and crew on board she will displace 28,367 tons. The photograph shows the bow elevated and the stern taking the water, as ships always are launched stern first.

Dr. E. O. Crossman of this city gave a very apt description of the self-styled progressives when divided into three classes: The political adventurer, the sore head, and the men of character who have been misled.

CLOSE OF THE CAMPAIGN.

The political campaign of 1912, which is to be a historic one and one of tremendous import to this country, is now practically ended. Tomorrow the vote will be taken. What the result of that vote will be, cannot be stated with any confidence and not even a good guess can be made. The silent vote of the United States is going to decide this election. How little is really known of what these silent voters are thinking and determining in their minds!

As we come up to election day, the Courier would like to impress on the voters of Rochester just one or two vital facts, once again. One is that President Taft, after all is said and done against him, remains and will go down into history as a big, able, honest man. His worst enemies have not denied that he is honest. He has made mistakes, but they have been political mistakes, mistakes largely in political manipulation, which have affected his own fortunes more than anything else. As against these slips, which we can all acknowledge and which grew out of his political inexperience, an inexperience which would surely not be in evidence in a second term, there are many great, big, vitally important, constructive policies, questions, not of petty politics but of large statesmanship. Notable among these is the question of universal peace. His arbitration treaties were the greatest step ever taken in the history of the world towards this beginning of the millennium, when there shall be no more wars nor rumors of wars, when the swords shall be beaten into plowshares and the spears into pruning hooks. Theodore Roosevelt, who has so bitterly and unjustly attacked and criticized his former friend, ridiculed and fought this arbitration plan, but that does not alter the fact that universal arbitration would be the very greatest boon that could be conferred on humanity.

President Taft, too, has unostentatiously gone about systematizing governmental departments and their work, economizing in the government's expenditures and adopting a sound business basis for the government's appropriations and expenditures. He has made no hue and cry about this but has kept busy at it, even during the heat of the recent campaign, saving the country hundreds of thousands of dollars, regardless of its effect on his own fortunes.

President Taft, too, has prosecuted the trusts that have violated the law, without fear or favor. He has not sought to over-ride the law and the constitution, but as chief executive, he has conscientiously enforced the law as he found it against all alike. The fact that he has done so, undoubtedly, is the reason why he was not unanimously re-nominated and why his re-election is now in question. If he had played favorites in these trust prosecutions, favoring the big and politically powerful ones, that stood by him, as good trusts and exempting them from the workings of the anti-trust laws, as he might have done, and as some before him did do, his own political fortunes undoubtedly would have been assured. But that is not William H. Taft.

President Taft's advocacy of reciprocity with Canada also very likely cost him a practically unanimous re-nomination. Without the opposition developed from this cause, not a stand could have been successfully made against him. Reciprocity is now a dead issue. The country is still very evenly divided as to the merits of the proposition, and it makes little difference, since it is unlikely to come up again for many years, if ever. But who can question the honesty of William H. Taft in his stand? He stood for what he believed was to be a big benefit to the United States, regardless of the effect on his own fortunes, when he could easily have trimmed and evaded the issue. It was a firm, honest, courageous stand, and one to be admired, whatever our opinions as to the wisdom of the measure. It certainly is in marked contrast to the attitude of ex-President Roosevelt, who urged Mr. Taft on to the advocacy of reciprocity and then deserted him, when he found it unpopular, using it as a club against his old friend later. Nothing in the entire campaign is more calculated to make a fair man's blood boil than this place of treachery.

We might go on enumerating instances of President Taft's statesmanship, if space allowed. But it is unnecessary. Do such things as universal peace, efficient and economical home government, count for nothing beside personal and political squabbles in the minds of the American voters?

And even the political mistakes could and would be corrected in a second term.

President Taft has been abused shamefully, denounced for his impartial enforcement of law and for his courage in standing for the right. It will not always be thus. History will give him the honor that is his due, even if the voters do not on next Tuesday.

The result of the election, however, is by no means a foregone conclusion. Notwithstanding what we have been told, it seems at this writing that no choice in the electoral college is a far more likely outcome than the election of Wilson, while President Taft's vote is going to be much larger than has been claimed by his opponents. But whatever the result, it is up to every voter to vote according to his sense of right and justice. We would vote for President Taft, if we voted alone, because we believe in him, we believe in his honesty, sincerity and courage, we believe that the attacks on him have been the most unjust, cruel and despicable of anything political since the time of Lincoln.

Furthermore, we want to see New Hampshire do her part in voting for justice and equity. The Granite State's stand in the pre-convention primaries was what saved the nomination for President Taft. The straw vote that has been taken by the Boston Globe indicates that next Tuesday New Hampshire will give her electoral vote to Taft. We believe this straw vote is a fair indication of the result.

It remains but to urge every voter to come out on Tuesday and do his duty. Vote not from prejudice and personal spite, not because of the clamor of the loud-mouthed who make a noise out of all proportions to their numbers, but as a reasoning, thinking, sane American citizen.—Rochester Courier.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Not Deserving of Labor Support

Editor of the Herald:—The leaders of the Progressive movement in this city claim that they are for the people first, last, and always. This being the case I should like to inquire how it is that all of their printing is printed in a non union shop and without the label. This looks very much as if this bunch was for the working man and in keeping with many of the new statements made by some of their candidates for office.

A party that does not think enough of the labor organizations to have its work done at a union printing office instead of a blacksmith shop, in my opinion is not deserving of the support of the laboring man.

VERITAS.

Would It Be Bribery?

Mr. Editor—I see by the papers that a society has been organized to prevent vote buying at the polls on election day. I am a mechanic, have a large family to support, and am dependent for my livelihood on doing odd jobs, not having sufficient pull to land a job on the navy yard. Now, I hear that one of the candidates for office is to give mining stock, instead of money to voters, that are in needy circumstances. Now what I want to know, would the acceptance of mining stock be the same as the taking of money?

LABORER.

Ans.—In our opinion, if the mining stock was not worthless it would be just the same as receiving money.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO NAVY YARD EMPLOYEES

Taboo on Gum, But Tobacco Goes.
For the next six weeks 125 enlisted men in the New York navy yard will be busy chewing 40 kinds of tobacco to decide which kind shall be bought for use in the navy.

Bids were opened recently from 15 dealers who wish to furnish 200,000 pounds, about a year's supply for the American navy. Prices ranged from 32 to 42 cents for various grades.

The contract may not go to the lowest bidder. Chemical tests will be made, and the men's decision will be the ultimate choice. Without knowing what kind they are chewing, the men selected for the tests will be questioned from time to time by a board of officers as to how they like various samples.

Their taste will be the final court of appeal as to who gets the bid.

DELAYED TRAINS.

Opening the Nobles Island Draw Held Up Traffic On Railroad.

The drawbridge at Nobles Island caused a delay to train service on the Boston & Maine this morning. The section crew were obliged to remove the rails at the west end of the draw in order that it could be swung back to allow a schooner loaded with sand to pass through.

While the hustle was going on the Wolfboro and Boston train was held up on one side and the York Harbor and Beach train on the other. Both trains were forty minutes off the schedule in getting away.

YARD WILL CLOSE.

Work Will Cease at 2.25 to Allow Time for the Men to Vote.

The Secretary of the Navy sent an order to all navy yards today directing the commandants to close their respective stations at a certain time on Tuesday to allow the workmen time to vote. At the Portsmouth yard work will cease at the sound of the whistle at 2.25 p. m. In the past on such occasions the workmen have come and gone at intervals and the work of the day was broken up under such an arrangement. The plan for tomorrow appears to meet the approval of everybody.

PRESIDENT TAFT AT FUNERAL OF VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN

Brief But Impressive Service With Whole City As Mourners.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 3.—With simple but impressive services the body of Vice President James S. Sherman was laid away Saturday afternoon in a crypt within a beautiful mausoleum in Forest Hill cemetery.

Under a canopy covering that served as a shield against a chill November wind were gathered the Sherman family, President Taft, members of his cabinet, justices of the United States Supreme Court, Senators and members of the House of Representatives and a few of the intimate friends and business associates of the Vice President, while without a throng who had assembled to pay a final tribute Pastor of the Christ Church, of which "Asleep in Jesus" by the Hagdon Male Chorus, which marked the conclusion of the services, had died away.

President Taft listened with bowed head and tear-dimmed eyes as Rev. Dr. M. W. Stryker, president of Hamilton College, read the brief committal service and Rev. Louis H. Holden, pastor of the Christ Church, of which Mr. Sherman was a member, offered prayer.

Taft at the Sherman Home.

Earlier in the afternoon there had been private services at the Sherman home on Genesee st. and the public obsequies at the First Presbyterian Church both of which were attended by the President.

The special train bearing the Nation's Chief Executive and party arrived in Utica at 1:30 o'clock and the President at once went to the Vice President's home to offer his sympathy in person to Mrs. Sherman and the others of the bereaved family. He remained for the services there, which were conducted by Dr. Holden and then went to the church, where the funeral hour had been scheduled for 2 o'clock, but the services did not begin until half an hour later.

Crowds began to gather in the vicinity of the church before noon, and when the doors were finally opened the large auditorium with its spacious galleries was quickly filled, except those seats which had been set apart for the members of the family, President Taft and the Congressional party, Government officials and intimate friends of the Vice President.

Details of police and firemen who were on hand to keep the crowds in check had difficulty in clearing the streets for the expected cortege which had formed at the Sherman home.

The delay in arrival of the funeral party at the church was due largely to the visit of President Taft to the Sherman household. The Presidential train was late in arriving and this had the effect of setting back the entire schedule. The interval was occupied with organ music, including selections from Mendelssohn and Handel.

A mixed quartet sang "Good Night" and when the selection by the male chorus had been concluded the President gazed a moment at the flower-covered casket of his friend and slowly made his way to a waiting automobile, accompanied by Ex. Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks, Attorney General Wickersham and Major Roads, military aid.

The members of the Congressional party were among the earliest arrivals and they were followed by the President and those who had called on Mrs. Sherman with him. The President occupied a seat in the center aisle of the church and with him sat Attorney General Wickersham, Sec. Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor, former Vice President Fairbanks and Chairman Hilges of the Republican National Committee.

Immediately in their rear were seated Justices Hughes and Pitney of the United States Supreme Court, Senators Crane, Curtis, Lippett, Primrose, Oliver Bacon, Works and O'Gorman, Sec. Bennett of the Senate and Rep. Wright, Fairchild and other members of the National House. Senator Root was one of the honorary bearers and at somewhat apart from the other National officials.

The religious services were under the direction of Pres. Stryker and were as limited in extent as it was possible to make them. They consisted of Scriptural reading by Dr. Holden and a few words of appreciation and a prayer by Dr. Stryker, all closing with a benediction by Rev. R. W. Brokaw, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

The music was directed by Prof. Charles W. Mowry and included organ selections and three hymns, "Lead, Kindly Light," "Abide With Me" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

The singing of the last three hymns was anticipated in by the entire congregation and this formed a most impressive part of the service. President Taft and several of the Senators joined in the singing.

Dr. Stryker made no effort to enter upon a eulogy of his deceased friend but confined himself to a few words of praise of the Vice-President's character and of farewell.

The funeral party left the church as it had entered to the music of standing as the casket was borne out. Mrs. Sherman was supported on either side by her sons as she walked slowly down the aisle to the waiting carriage. Her carriage preceded that of President Taft in the long line that passed to the cemetery through streets lined with people.

There was no attempt at display and the procession was not even headed by a detail of police. Maj. Rhoads, the President's aid, in the uniform of an artillery officer, lent the only color to the stately hues of the Presidential party.

It was made public on Saturday that Arthur R. Watson of Dover, well known in this city, was quietly married several days before at Portland, Me., to Miss Edna A. Lewis of Jersey City, N. J.

Cottolene at Cake-baking time

It is mighty hard to obtain uniform results in cake making—if you use butter or lard—because both of these products vary so in quality.

Cottolene is always uniform—always produces good results. With its use, you can count on a certain kind of cake being the same every time.

Cottolene sells at about the price of lard, and is so rich that one-third less is required than either butter or lard.

Cottolene is never sold in bulk—always in air-tight tin pails, which protect it from dirt, dust and odors. It is always uniform and dependable.

THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY

REPUBLICAN RALLY TONIGHT

There will be a grand repugnant rally at Freemans Hall this evening, which will end a great whirlwind tour of this county, and it will be the last word before election.

In addition to the speakers who are making the tour there will be short talks by men prominent in the business and professional life of this city, and they will tell briefly why they are for President Taft and why in their opinion this city should be an administration city.

The rally will be held at eight o'clock and there will be music by the Portsmouth City Band, and something of great interest to every voter no matter what his politics are.

Col. John H. Bartlett will preside and the speaker will include Hon. Sherman T. Burroughs one of the most convincing speakers in the state and a real progressive, Hon. F. W. Hackett, formerly assistant secretary of the navy, Hon. G. T. Whitford.

SHOT WOULD BE ROBBER.

Mr. Cooke Held Up His Hands the Wrong Way.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Rutherford B. Cooke, assistant secretary of the Chicago National League baseball club, shot and killed one of two men in an automobile who stopped him on Washington boulevard early this morning and ordered him to throw up his hands. The other man, according to Cooke's account, had not left the automobile, and when his companion was shot he fled away.

Police found in the dead man's pocket an accident insurance policy made out to Edward Meyers and also a deputy sheriff's star.

Cooke said the man he shot got out of the automobile and pointed a revolver at him. The police took Cooke to the station, but later released him on his own recognizance to appear at the coroner's inquest.

Great Murder Mystery

A young Spaniard was murdered and found dead upon the moor. Sherlock Holmes the greatest detective character ever created in fiction was assigned to the case. Needless to say he solved the mystery in his usual masterly fashion. The name of the story is, "The Singular Experience of Mr. J. Scott Eccles." It was written by Sir A. Conan Doyle and will be printed in next Sunday's New York World. By all means read this remarkable story.

The funeral of George Leavitt, was held at one o'clock on Sunday afternoon from the home of his brother J. L. Leavitt on Sparhawk street. Rev. M. M. Adams officiated and interment was in the cemetery in Stratham, under the directions of Underaker, L. W. Nickerson.

MODERN ROAD BUILDING.

The street department has done a job of work on Market Square that will certainly add lustre to its fame. This morning people who had occasion to cross the square found that the holes in the asphalt paving had been filled up with gravel. To an outsider it looks as though the people in power were deliberately trying to let the asphalt go to pieces, when for a small sum, compared with the extravagant waste of money on Middle street and other places, it could be repaired.

A FORMER PASTOR.

Rev. Thomas Whiteside, formerly a member of the New Hampshire Methodist Conference, for eighteen months pastor of the church at Bucksport, Me., and formerly of the Methodist Church of this city, has been appointed to the Methodist church, Orono, to succeed Rev. Oscar S. Smith, who goes to the First Church, Bangor.

DE MONTLUC A TRUE GASCON

Character of Romantic Soldier Illustrated by an Incident During the Siege of Sienna.

Blaise de Montluc was a soldier and a marshal of France who fought through half the sixteenth century. Like a true Gascon, as he was, he added to his great physical qualities courage, high spirits and an unquenchable gaiety, which distinguished him above soldiers of a graver mold. He was the veritable captain of his soul.

In the Italian wars Blaise de Montluc commanded the defense of Sienna during the prolonged siege. When the town was reduced to a few ounces of bread daily, Blaise was overcome with sickness, and had himself carried about in a chair muffled up in furs.

But perceiving that the inhabitants, especially the women, were thus rendered apprehensive of their fate should he die,—"so runs the excerpt from De Montluc's "Commentaries,"—"he called for a pair of crimson velvet breeches, laid over with gold lace, very finely cut, for they were made at a time when he was fonder in love.

He put on a doublet of the same, and a shirt of crimson silk and gold twist; then a buff collar over which he put his arms, very finely gilt."

He also put on a short cassock of gray velvet, garnished with "little plates of silver at two fingers' distance from one another, and lined with cloth of silver, all open between the plates."

Then he "rubbed his face with Greek wine till he brought a little color into his cheeks, and drank a small draught with a little bit of bread."

"He then looked at himself in the glass, strutted before his officers, though he had not the strength to kill a chicken, and rode through the town to the great comfort of all beholders."

HE COULDN'T TAKE THE JOB

Notorious Crackman's Explanation of His Reason for Refusing an Easy Part in Play.

An American philanthropist made a business of getting jobs for men just out of jail. A notorious crackman came to him with a letter of introduction from the clergyman.

"I've the very thing you want," said the philanthropist, when the jail-bird had dilated adequately and with pride upon his exploits. "I'll see my friend Briggs. Come around tomorrow morning."

The crackman, encouraged by the prospect of honest work, appeared promptly at the appointed hour.

"You're to go to work at once," said the philanthropist. "My friend is producing a melodrama. In it is a scene where a burglar enters the room and cracks a safe. It'll only take you a few minutes, and you don't have to speak a word—just execute the job with the minute detail that will make it look real. Your salary will be $50 a week."

The convict dolefully shook his head. "Sorry I can't take the job, boss."

"Can't take it? Why, it's the chance of your life."

"Can't help it, boss; I promised my mother I'd never go on the stage."

Bad Effects of the X-Ray.

After a great discovery has been made in medicine and practitioners have enthusiastically entered on the use of the new thing it usually follows that the loudly hailed panacea is not all that it was thought to be. Dr. A. Ravogli, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, discusses some of the injurious effects of the X-ray as a therapeutic agent. He describes lesions produced by its use and of a case of cancer following its use in lupus. He shows that while this powerful physical remedy may often be used with advantage, the greatest care must be observed and that many patients have suffered through its use by inexperienced office attendants.

Figs and Raisins.

Consul Horton at Smyrna notes that the Reform, a Smyrna newspaper, estimates the raisin crop for this year at about 700,000 quintals ($7,164,000 pounds), and that of figs about 75,000 camel loads ($6,082,500 pounds). But from what he has been able to learn it seems that exporters and dealers mostly are trying to keep the crop reports at a low figure in order to be able to begin with high prices, and that if the weather continues favorable the raisin crop will amount approximately to 99,616,000 pounds against 66,034,000 pounds last year, and the fig crop to 100,000 camel loads as against 120,000 camel loads last year.

Agreed With Her.

A story is told concerning a famous man of letters who visited Washington and appeared at a dinner-party. He sat next to a young girl, who rattled away at the famous man. He wanted to talk to his hostess, but hadn't a chance. The girl said to him: "I'm awfully stuck on Shakespeare. Don't you think he's terribly interesting?" Everybody listened to hear the great man's brilliant reply; for, as a Shakespearean scholar, he had few peers. "Yes," he said solemnly, "I do think he is interesting. I think he is more than that. I think Shakespeare is just simply too dear for anything!"

BANKERS FEEL PINCH

Society to Be Organized to Relieve Pressure of High Prices.

Will Buy All Supplies From Producers and They Will Be Handled at Minimum Cost—Has 1,000 Members.

Boston.—Even the fellows through whose hands flow each year millions in good, hard cash feel the pinch of mounting prices. Like the rest, they have contemplated with disgust and chagrin the bill of the butcher, the grocer and the other dealers in household necessities and have grown tired of its constantly growing proportions. They have not been content, however, to sit still under the burden; they have decided that the time has come to do something and the Co-Operative Society of Bank Men is the result. It is generally speaking, a plan to bring back the so-called 60 cent dollar to something like its face value.

The new organization, which was incorporated recently under the laws of Massachusetts with a capital of $25,000, will start with a membership of 1,000 and will eventually take in a membership in excess of 2,000. Primarily it was founded for the benefit of those who are connected with banks and kindred financial institutions, but its scope may be extended a little to take in others who may prove satisfactory to the original members.

On the whole, the association professes to do business with the producer, and has already made arrangements to that end in a number of lines. It has been figured that at the outset a large amount may be saved by cutting off the small profits which accrue to a number of agencies before goods reach the average retailer.

In the beginning, the society will endeavor to confine itself to a staple line of goods which may be turned over quickly so that the capital may not be tied up for any long period. These staples will, naturally, embrace meat and groceries, but will not be confined exclusively to them. As the demand arises, a wide variety of articles for household and general use will be added. While the nature of all the merchandise has not been decided upon, it is sure to have a wide enough range to satisfy the calls from customers. There are possibilities in many fields of retail trade. For instance, it has even been suggested that the younger members might be supplied with some sort of sporting goods and might be able to cut down expenditures on such semi-luxuries as golf and tennis balls.

A sizeable economy, of course, will be effected in the selling as well as in the buying end. The society has no idea of starting anything like a general store, but will maintain a distributing station at some point convenient to the financial district. Here the goods will be stored not with an intent to display, but for easy and rapid handling.

One element which will be insisted upon will be the handling of only such goods as give reasonable assurance of a quick "turnover." The society will avoid from the start those things which are familiarly known in the retail trade as "stickers." The stock of merchandise must be cleaned up rapidly and a new stock bought. Nothing that will lie on the shelves from season to season will be included in the list of articles in which the corporation proposes to deal. All goods will be sold at a safe margin of profit so that it will be impossible for the society to be caught in even temporary difficulties.

Curiously enough, two men in the financial district were working out plans for some sort of concerted effort among their fellow employees. For some time past Frank W. Chase of the United States eubankery had been making an investigation into co-operative methods of buying and had been interesting his friends in the advantages of the scheme. At the same time Charles E. Nott of the New England Trust company had been perfecting a similar plan. Neither had at the outset any conception that his ideas would meet with the general approval which later developed.

All the officers and other members of the society who may be called upon to serve in various capacities do so without salary, and the only salary expenses will be for such persons as may be employed in buying and selling.

SWIMS TIED HAND AND FOOT

A Young Boston Woman Made Freak Record in Crossing the Delaware.

Philadelphia.—Following the long swims by Philadelphia girls here recently, Miss Katherine Wallace, a twenty-year-old Boston girl, set a new record by swimming across the Delaware river with her hands and feet tied. Bound hand and foot she was forced to make her strokes with the muscles of the back and shoulders, as she could bend her knees only a little. She made most of the distance swimming first on one side and then another. Several times she showed signs of tiring, but went on pluckily to the finish. Five thousand people gathered at the pier to see her accomplish the feat.

ACCIDENT ON U.S.S. VERMONT COST LIVES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Five stories of the battleship Vermont were badly scuttled Saturday night in an explosion and two of them blew out. The explosion was at Hampton Roads. M. P. Moran and H. M. Wagner died on the hospital ship Solace. The others hurt were J. W. Newberry, M. W. Cramer and C. K. Hoelling. Immediately after the accident the Vermont was taken in tow by tugs. No other damage was done.

The captain of the Vermont telegraphed the dead men's nearest relatives. The bodies are being prepared to be sent to the Marine Hospital, pending advices from relatives.

Low water in the boilers undoubtedly caused the accident, according to Navy engineering experts. The accident is believed to have been similar to that which occurred on the battleship Delaware about 18 months ago, when four lives were lost.

In that case, although the few survivors of the boiler-room force asserted that the glass gauge showed ample water in the boiler, examination of the wreck disclosed the fact that the tubes and part of the "header" which conveys the water from the tubes to the steam drum had turned blue.

This is a sure indication that they had been submitted to almost a red heat without water. A boiler with banked fires is seldom as closely watched by the water tenders as one supplying live steam, hence such accidents are more easily possible.

SKIPPED BOARD BILL

Walter H. Woodbury Under Arrest at Manchester.—Wanted at Lacombe.

Lacombe, Nov. 3.—Walter H. Woodbury, who has been stopping at the Mount Belmont house for several days, and who has represented himself as an employee under the federal government, skipped his board bill for three weeks. It is alleged, and before the proprietor of the hotel could do anything in a legal way an inspector from the Manchester police department took Woodbury in charge and he is now locked up at the Manchester station.

Woodbury, it is said, represented himself as waiting for a check, which was taken seriously for a time. It is understood that the arrest was made at the instigation of Proprietor Lord of the New Manchester house at Manchester, where, it is claimed, Woodbury had also run up a board bill which he neglected to pay.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.

The regular season of subscription sale of seats having been brought to a close, the management of the Boston Opera Company makes known that during the week beginning Monday, Nov. 4th, subscriptions will be received for any part of the season of eighteen weeks. This will be of particular interest to out of town operators who wish to attend the performances on alternate weeks or even less frequently, for it will enable them to make a choice of their locations before the sale for seats for single performances go on sale. Subscribers who have not yet received their tickets are requested to call for them at an early date, at the box office, which is opened daily from ten till five.

EXETER LETTER

With Exeter as the center of political enthusiasm, the echoes will extend to nearby towns today. The republicans will make their last appeal here this evening, by a big rally in the town hall and the flying squadron of speakers will be heard on the square.

The democrats have had their last public rally when it was held at the town hall on Tuesday of last week, and the Bull Mooseers closed their Saturday evening at the Town Hall, when Col. Winston Churchill and Clarence E. Clough told the voters at a rally to follow their advice for the reform ticket at the polls on Tuesday. Col. Churchill made an attempt to reach here on the evening of Sept. 14, but was prevented by illness.

The license question is also coming to the front here and last evening a no license rally was held at the town hall when the speakers were the Rev. A. A. Berle of Boston and music was rendered by a male chorus of seventy five voices. License is also one of the leading issues in the town of Newfields which two years ago went into the dry column, for the first time in the town's history.

In respect to Vice President James S. Sherman, the postoffice was closed Saturday afternoon from 12 until 6 o'clock. Flags were placed at half mast and many photographs of the Vice President draped in mourning.

There are several social events slated for this evening, the Exeter Chapter D. A. R. will meet with Mrs. A. S. Wetherell, where they will be addressed by Lieut. Col. Barrows; the Renaissance club will meet with Mrs. H. A. Shute, and there a paper will be read by Elizabeth Mayo on "Industrial Legislation Before the Rise of the Factory System," and the Swanscott Lodge K. P. will hold an important business meeting for the discussion of future social events.

ELECTION DAY WEATHER

"Fair and Moderate" Expected by the Experts

Washington Nov. 3.—Fair and moderate weather in nearly every part of the country on election day is expected by the experts of the weather bureau. Indications are favorable for all districts east of the Rocky Mountains. On the Pacific slope, however, conditions promise to be somewhat unsettled, and it may be that certain sections of the lake region and the Ohio and the Mississippi valleys will have local rains.

Eastern and southern states will have considerably warmer temperature, Tuesday and there is no indication of unseasonably cold weather in any part of the country.

KILLED IN THE WOODS

Bridgton, Me., Nov. 3.—Rudolph Allen, aged 25 years was accidentally shot and killed in the woods at South Windham today. Allen went out with some companions to try a new gun. While he was climbing over a wall the gun caught in his clothing and was discharged, the shot striking him in the breast and causing instant death.

ANXIETY RELIEVED

Boston, November 3.—What little anxiety had been felt for the safety of the missionaries of the American Board of Commissioners, for Foreign Missions, more than 200 of whom are stationed in Turkey, and in the Balkan states, was relieved today by cablegram received by Dr. James L. Barton, secretary of the board. The cablegram which was in answer to a message for information sent out by the board, came from the board's headquarters in Constantinople. It said:

"In touch with all missionaries. Situation gives no anxiety at present."

SHE WISHES THAT EVERYBODY COULD ELOPE

Young Couple Mote From New York to Kittery to be Wed

"I determined to get all the romance I could out of my one love affair, so that's reason why I eloped, if you must know," declared pretty little Mrs. D. Herbert Hostetter, now the wife of a wealthy son of Pittsburg.

Mrs. Hostetter was Margaret Brown of St. Louis. A fortnight ago Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Goltra, her sister and brother-in-law, announced their intention of visiting New York. Miss Brown insisted upon accompanying them, and upon their arrival there they went to the Waldorf.

Miss Helen Smith, the bride's chum, had long been aware of Hostetter's infatuation for the St. Louis girl, and she immediately wired to Edward F. Goltra, Jr., who is a student at Princeton, that Miss Brown was there. The next day young Goltra hurried to New York, and with him went Hostetter. Then followed a round of dinners, theatres, etc.

Arrangements were being made for Miss Brown to return home when—but let Mrs. Hostetter tell the story herself.

"So when Herbert heard I was to return home he just said he wouldn't let me, and he just made me elope. Anyway, I think running away is so much nicer than having a stiff old ceremony, don't you?

"We attended a theatre, and afterward we excused ourselves from going to supper and told our friends that we wanted to arrange something. The arrangement was our wedding, but they didn't know that."

"Then came the most exciting race to get married. Wasn't it deliciously scandalous, running off in the middle of the night like that? I was too scared for anything, but Herbert told me not to be afraid. So after motoring through six states we reached Maine and we were married at Kittery. We looked up the laws before we left and found that Maine was the only state that didn't require a five days' residence. So you see our crime was premeditated after all."

"I met my husband's parents and they were delightful, and I am just so happy I don't know what to do. I wish everybody could elope and have the fun I did."

Young Hostetter is the son of the late Theodore D. Hostetter, a wealthy Pittsburg, while the bride enjoys the income from one-fifth of the estate of her father, the late Judge William Brown. Mr. Hostetter would have finished at Princeton in another year, but he has decided not to return since his marriage.

KIDNAPPER AND CHILD IN CUSTODY

Local Police Find Yates Boy and His Captor.

Little Edward Yates, the five-year-old Boston boy who was kidnapped on Thursday last was found in this city this noon in company with a woman who gave her name as Louise Roach. The arrest was made by Chief of Police Entwistle at the railroad station as the woman and child were about to take the train for Boston.

While here the woman has been stopping at a house at the lower end of State street.

The woman states that she saw the young boy, took a fancy to him and brought him to this city. Since her arrival here she purchased him an entire new suit of clothing as well as a teddy bear and other playthings.

When arrested she said she was on her way to return the child to its parents and told Chief Entwistle that she would share an automobile to do so, if he would allow her.

The chief, however, took her to the police station where she and the lad are held pending the arrival of an officer from Boston.

Thursday afternoon while Edward was with his 8-year-old brother, James, at Green and Staniford streets, a strange woman appeared and talked with him. James went home and told his mother that Edward was talking to a woman. While he was gone the woman took Edward into a drug store, bought him candy and said something about taking him home to see her cat and dogs.

Leaving the drug store, the woman and boy were traced to Chambers street, but beyond that point no information of them is to be had.

Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. The following were the pall bearers: Charles P. Hurley, Michael Hurley, Joseph Long and Dennis Long.
